un-normal. un-constrained. un-destructive.
fashion as it should be analysing one's different facets of identity and the fractured relationships between them.

drawing inspiration from national lithuanian costume, religious garments, and own gender identity:
the result is the capsule collection of 7 pieces:
including jackets, trousers, a shirt, and belts that fit people regardless of their gender expression.

every single garment is essential to the concept and messaging of the collection:
pushing the world to be a more accepting and expressive place by embracing and catering to the boundless beauty of gender spectrum balancing eternal classics and the pulse of today's and tomorrow's trends while drawing inspiration from culture and history at large.
